2. A. Areas of Research Activities: (Broad Areas)

- i. Areas identified for research under the Centre for Advanced Study Phase II are Knowledge Systems, Literature and Oratures: 'Knowledge Systems' was already identified as a future thrust area in CAS first phase. Work in this area will focus on South Asia and Southeast Asia as already identified in CAS 1, but will also now extend to other geopolitical spaces.

Roots and Routes: Intra-Indian and India-Asia Linguistic, Literary and Cultural Relations: Exploring the relationship between India and the rest of Asia in all its nuances remains one of the key areas of focus of the second phase of the CAS programme of the Department of Comparative Literature, Jadavpur University. Again, the corpus of Indian literature/s provides incredible opportunity for investigating the network of historical, political, linguistic and literary dynamics that shape the growth and development of literature and the evolution of genres and movement.

Comparative Literature: Further Explorations in Discipline and Methodology: Work in this thrust area will focus on exploring the pedagogy of Comparative Literature.

- ii. Canadian Studies
- iii. Latin American Literature and Culture
- iv. Translation Studies

DR. ABHIJIT GHOSH : IN MEMORIAM

Dr. Abhijit Ghosh breathed his last in the Department of Sanskrit of Jadavpur University and departed for the world of peace on 16th July, 2013. He was indeed a great scholar of Vedic Study and Indian Linguistics. He also possessed specialized knowledge in Classical Sanskrit Literature, Socio-cultural Anthropology, Religious Ethnography, Hindu Iconography, Ancient Indian Medical Tradition and North Indian Classical Music. Apart from his regular professional or careerist activities he had an immense interest for several folk cultures. He used to carry on regular academic contacts with several western scholars and foreign institutes as well. His efficiency of proof reading was really commendable. Among his praiseworthy academic achievements a few are being recorded here:

- Jan Gonda Post-doctoral Fellow of Royal Netherlands Academy of Arts & Sciences, Amsterdam as Affiliated Fellow, International Institute for Asian Studies, Leiden (2002).
- Visiting Professor, Department of South-Asian, Tibetan and Buddhist Studies, University of Vienna (2004).
- Eminent Foreign Scholar Lecturer on Indian medical tradition & Yoga philosophy in the Humanities Korea Civilization Research Project at the Seoul National University (2009).
- Addresser to the 3rd World History Class with Scholars at the [Hyundai] I'Park Culture Centre, Seoul, South Korea (2009).
- Directeur d'Études Invit, de l'École des Hautes Études en Sciences Sociales, Paris (2010).

He carried on the responsibility of the Departmental Head in the Department of Sanskrit of Jadavpur University twice in his professional life. Moreover, he performed the job of preparing the Academic Report of the Department of Sanskrit very meticulously.

As a person, he always used to maintain a very pleasant appearance. He had a very subtle sense of humour. Interested students and scholars always enjoyed his scholastic assistance in various ways. One of his traits most worthy of imitation was his capacity to acknowledge or appreciate others in reception even of minor academic help.

To the Department of Sanskrit of Jadavpur University the sudden demise of Dr. Abhijit Ghosh in the Department would ever be a memorably shocking event. The Department will always miss his amusing comments and activities.

May his soul rest in peace!

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE DEPARTMENT

Founded in August 1956, with Prof. Gaurinath Sastri, the celebrated Principal of the Govt. Sanskrit College, Calcutta as the Teacher-in-charge (1956-1958) and then Prof. Sadananda Bhaduri (who later donated his collection of books to the Departmental library) as its first Head of the Department (1958-1961), Jadavpur University's Department of Sanskrit, with its day and evening sections, started flourishing with a bang during the tenure of Prof. Ramaranjan Mukherji, who, twice pivot of the Department for a long time (1961-1970, 1971-1972), took an active interest in its multiple activities till his last days. After a brief spell of joint Headship of Prof. Sitanath Goswami and Prof. Gopikamohan Bhattacharyya in 1970, the former singly headed this Department twice (1970-1971, 1973-1980) as a worthy successor of Mukherji for another long period, after which the Headship became rotational. The subsequent Heads were Prof. Ms. Sukumari Bhattacharji (the first woman to lead the Department, in 1981), Nirmalkanti Basu (1981-1983), Prof. Bhabaniprasad Bhattacharyya (the first teacher to occupy the chair twice and the only teacher to complete his/her tenures since the introduction of rotatory Headship, in 1983-1985, +), Prof. Rabisankar Banerji (1985-1987), Ms. Nandita Bandyopadhyay (1987-1989), Dr. Himansu Narayan Chakravarti (1989-1991), Prof. Manabendu Banerjee (1991-1993), Ms. Bijoya Goswami (by now the seniormost teacher in the Department, 1993-1995, +), Ms. Sarbani Ganguli (1995-1997), Bhabaniprasad Bhattacharya (1997-1999), Abhijit Ghosh (1999-2001, +), Pradyot Kumar Datta (2001-2003), Ms. Lalita Sengupta (2003-2005), Prof. Ms. Rita Chattopadhyay (2005-2006, +), Prof. Ms. Debarchana Sarkar (2006-2008), Tapan Sankar Bhattacharyya (2008-2010), Prof. Ms. Piyali Praharaj (2010), Bijoya Goswami (2010), Rita Chattopadhyay (2011), Prof. Lalita Sengupta (2011-2012), Abhijit Ghosh (2012-2013) and the present Head being Dr. Tapan Sankar Bhattacharyya (2013^o). As well as such stalwarts as among others the illustrious Prof. Sushil Kumar De, Dr. Kunja Gobinda Goswami, Prof. Prabodh Chandra Lahiri, Prof. Bishnupada Bhattacharya, Hemanta Gangopadhyay, Prof. Ms. Sanjukta Gupta and Dr. Ms. Chinmayi Chatterjee, luminaries like Mahamahopadhyay Srijob Nyayatirtha and noted traditional scholars like Pandits Dinesh Chandra Sastri, Bidhubhushan Tarkatirtha, Bhutesh Chandra Smrititirtha, Narmada Kumar Tarkatirtha and Ms. Durgabati Bandyopadhyay were also associated with this Department, in some way or other.

The Department earned in 1989 the University Grants Commission-recognized then rare distinction of Department of Special Assistance, with Rabisankar Banerji as its Coordinator for a life time, subsequently led by Manabendu Banerjee (acting) and Bijoya Goswami. Since 1997, it has had also a University-funded Centre for Indology, being first coordinated by Manabendu Banerjee, then by Nandita Bandyopadhyay (Joint Coordinator Debarchana Sarkar) and now by Debarchana Sarkar (Joint Coordinator Sarbani Ganguli). Above everything else, after the Sanskrit Department of the University of Poona in the late 1960s, this Department became the second Centre of Advanced Study in Sanskrit in India in 2005, chiefly through the all-out tireless efforts of Ramaranjan Mukherji. Bijoya Goswami was its Coordinator (Joint Coordinator Lalita Sengupta) during its first phase, and the hopefully green signal for starting its second phase is now under the consideration of the UGC. Twice, in 1969 and 1997, the Department hosted the prestigious All-India Oriental Conference (Local Secretaries: resp. R.R. Mukherji and R.S. Banerji). Since 1996-1997, it has been regularly organizing Refresher Courses in collaboration with the UGC and the Academic Staff College of the University in umpteen thrust areas of Indology for university and college teachers from various parts of the country, with many Indian and foreign scholars of international repute acting as resource persons. It has also organized many successful national and international conferences, seminars as well as workshops on manifold Indological, especially Sanskrit-oriented topics. The UGC-sponsored Assistance for Strengthening of Infrastructure for Humanities and Social Sciences programme started in the Department since 2005, with the Head of the Department as its Coordinator, ex officio. The Department has printed and reprinted numerous scholarly works, and its research organ Anvākūā has been a regular publication since 1966 (till date in all 33 volumes, often divided into two parts, its last two issues edited resp. by Rita Chattopadhyay and Lalita Sengupta being humble tributes to the hallowed memories of the Department's chief architect late Professor Padmashri Mahamahopadhyay Ramaranjan Mukherji, M.A., Ph.D., D.Litt. and the entire Department's beloved teacher, late lamented motherly and sisterly Professor Nandita Bandyopadhyay, M.A., Ph.D., D.Litt.).

The quality of teaching-learning methodologies followed by the Department is amply reflected by the fact, inter alia, that in 2009 no less than 17 of its ex-students were selected by the West Bengal College Service Commission for Lectureship in scores of colleges under various state universities. And, this Department has started attracting foreign students for quite a few years now: Rita Chattopadhyay taught the Diploma and Advanced Diploma Courses to a German and a South Korean student in the recent past, and Abhijit Ghosh taught M.A., B.A. Honours & Extra-Departmental courses in 2007 and M.A. & B.A. Honours courses in 2008 to students from the Faculty of Oriental Studies of the La Sapienza University in Rome who opted for Sanskrit courses, subsequent to the signing of a Memorandum of Understanding on student exchange program between the Jadavpur and the La Sapienza Universities.

In short, the Department, offering no less than 9 courses, continues to thrive with 13+12 teachers, some 500 students in its two sections and an excellent Departmental library, of which the Librarian for long till her retirement was Dr. Ms. Shyamali Basu, now succeeded by Ms. Shruti Mallick, B.Sc., B.Lib-Sc., friend extraordinary for the library-users.
