

Humboldt Kolleg : ‘Food, Livelihood, Opportunity and Wood (FLOW)’

3-5th January, 2020, Raichak , West Bengal

To celebrate the 250th birth anniversary of Alexander von Humboldt, the great scientist, explorer and philosopher of all time, the AvH Fellows of the Department of Geological Sciences, Jadavpur University will organize interdisciplinary and socially relevant symposia (Humboldt Kolleg) during 3-5th January, 2020 at Raichak, West Bengal. The international symposia that carries a title ‘Food, Livelihood, Opportunity and Wood (FLOW)’ will be attended by the representatives from the German Diplomatic Mission in India, various German Funding agencies (DFG, DAAD, AvH), Indian National Science Academy, Atomic Energy Commission of India, Department of Atomic Energy, Geological Survey of India and 42 reputed national and international academic institutes (including the recipients AvH DAAD and DFG fellowships and Humboldt Prize Awardees) . We are delighted to have among us Prof. Suranjan Das, Honorable Vice-Chancellor of Jadavpur University as Chief patron of the program. The forthcoming Humboldt Kolleg will be funded by the Alexander von Humboldt Foundation of Germany. For detail information about the Humboldt Kolleg please visit <https://www.humboldt-foundation.de/web/dates-humboldt-kollegs.html>